OBJECTIVES

- To promote the health, safety and welfare of the general public through the proper installation and use of electronic burglar, fire, and supervisory alarm systems,
- To serve by all lawful means as a medium for exchange and dissemination to the public of information applicable to the field of burglar and fire alarms
- To establish standards for the sale, installation, monitoring, maintenance and use of burglar, fire and supervisory alarm systems
- To stimulate by all lawful means wider and more extensive use of electrical burglar, fire and supervisory alarm systems
- To promote the mutual interests of the electrical protection industry
- To foster cordial relations among members
- To cooperate by all lawful means with others on matters affecting the business and common interests of the members of the Association
- To promote the concepts that members be guided by a spirit of justice and honor in all business activities and that all members observe the Association's Code of Ethics
- To conduct or engage in all lawful activities in furtherance of the foregoing objectives of those incidental hereto

CODE OF ETHICS

The following code is intended to aid member firms of the Connecticut Alarm & Systems Integrators Association, and their employees, to maintain a high level of ethical conduct.

- We will further the public interest by contributing to a better understanding and use of the capacities, abilities and technical skills of the electrical protection industry of the United States and neighboring countries, and by accepting our responsibilities to the communities within which we live and work.
- We will present our qualifications to prospective clients solely in terms of our ability, experience and reputation and we will strive continuously to improve our knowledge, skills and techniques for the benefit of our clients.
- We will be mindful of the trust placed in us by our subscribers and our responsibility to render services of the highest quality.
- We will assure that our employees will clearly understand company operations, policies and procedures in their relationship with subscriber companies and their employees.
- We will apply uniform and equitable standards of employment opportunities and assure that the best use is made of the abilities of our employees regardless of race, color, sex or age.
- We will endeavor to provide opportunity for the professional advancement of employees by assisting them to acquire additional knowledge and competence in their technical skills and to keep up with significant advances in the state-of-the-art.
- We will maintain a wholly professional attitude toward those we serve, those who assist us, other firms in the industry, and the practitioners of allied arts and sciences.
- We will respect the reputation and practice of other firms in the electrical protection industry, but we will expose, without hesitation, conduct that may be considered unethical by appropriate CASIA authorities.
